(Re)Search Summer School

AN INITIATIVE BY THE YOUTH
SECTION AT THE GOETHEANUM

Research as Participation in the Process of Knowledge.

Investigating ourselves and the world is a central aspect of human life. This is why we have created a week-long immersive process for young people to share with one another the awe-inspiring task of setting ourselves afoot in the path of knowledge.

The (Re)Search Summer School is open to young people of all backgrounds who long to learn alternative approaches to deal with their own questions. Through theoretical, practical individual and group activities, participants are invited to shape their own research projects. Guidance and mentoring from the (Re)Search* team and the Summer School's mentors will accompany you during the journey.
